

The Robert R. Jones Public Library provides a welcoming, clean, and comfortable environment for all. Consistent with this, food and drink items are allowed in most areas of the library if consumed responsibly. Patrons are expected to clean up after themselves and notify staff immediately of any spills.

If food or drink is considered to be causing a disturbance, Library staff may ask the patron to discard food items or leave the facility. Delivery of food to the Library for Library users is prohibited, except for special programming events.

Drinks are limited to those in closed containers such as covered cups or water bottles.